

Ladybirds of the UK

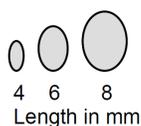

This sheet shows many of the common ladybird species found in the UK.

Eyed ladybird Anatis ocellata  Length: 7 – 8.5mm Habitat: Coniferous trees	Striped ladybird Myzia oblongoguttata  Length: 6 – 8mm Habitat: Coniferous trees	Harlequin ladybird (non-native species) Harmonia axyridis  Length: 6 – 8mm Habitat: Generalist Note: The two most common forms of this very variable species are shown	7-spot ladybird Coccinella 7-punctata  Length: 5 – 8mm Habitat: Generalist
Cream-streaked ladybird Harmonia 4-punctata  Length: 5 – 6mm Habitat: Coniferous trees	Orange ladybird Halyzia 16-guttata  Length: 4.5 – 6mm Habitat: Deciduous trees	2-spot ladybird Adalia 2-punctata  Length: 4 – 5mm Habitat: Generalist Note: Two forms of this very variable species are shown	Cream-spot ladybird Calvia 14-guttata  Length: 4 – 5mm Habitat: Deciduous trees
Kidney-spot ladybird Chilocorus renipustulatus  Length: 4 – 5mm Habitat: Deciduous trees	Adonis' ladybird Hippodamia variegata  Length: 4 – 5mm Habitat: Diverse, usually sandy soils	10-spot ladybird Adalia 10-punctata  Length: 3.5 – 4.5mm Habitat: Deciduous trees, hedgerows Note: Two forms of this very variable species are shown	14-spot ladybird Propylea 14-punctata  Length: 3.5 – 4.5mm Habitat: Generalist
Pine ladybird Exochomus 4-pustulatus  Length: 3 – 4.5mm Habitat: Coniferous and deciduous trees	22-spot ladybird Psyllobora 22-punctata  Length: 3 – 4mm Habitat: Grassland	24-spot ladybird Subcoccinella 24-punctata  Length: 3 – 4mm (hairy) Habitat: Grassland	16-spot ladybird Tytthaspis 16-punctata  Length: 3mm Habitat: Grassland

Images kindly provided by: Paul Brothers, Peter Brown, Richard Comont, Ken Dolbear, Geoff Foale, Mike Majerus, Jeroen Mentens and Maris Midgley.

Ladybird Size Guide

The ladybirds are shown in order of size (largest first).

Centre for Ecology & Hydrology
NATURAL ENVIRONMENT RESEARCH COUNCIL

Anglia Ruskin University

UK Ladybird Survey

For more information and to record your sightings see www.coleoptera.org.uk/coccinellidae/home or the free iRecord app